FRENCH DEPUTATIONS ARRIVED.

LONDON, August 16.—The deputation of French citizens appointed to visit Ireland and thank the people of that country for the aid and relief given to wounded French soldiers during the war with Prussia, has arrived. The people are wild with excitement, and the roads leading to the stopping place of the French men became impassible because of the crowd. Wednesday night the city bands (performers dressed in green,) marched to the hotel where the Frenchmen are stopping, and played American, Irish and French national airs, and also some Fenian tunes. There was no interference by the police. The deputation reached the Shelborne Hotel at three o'clock, and in response to calls from the people, came out upon the balcony, and a member of Parliament made an address to the crowd. Marshal MacMahon also arrived with a deputation and was loudly cheered by thousands of people. His reception was worthy of a king. SENATOR MORTON.

Extracts From his Speech at St. Louis.

LABOR REFORM.

ST. LOUIS, August 17.—Senator Morton, speaking of the Labor Reform question, said: One of the fundamental ideas of the Republican party is the dignity of labor. The party has planted itself upon the idea that labor should be free. Slavery degraded labor, and that was one of the reasons why we were for taking slavery up by the roots. He drew attention to the prosperity of Missouri under free labor, saying the books of the State Auditor showed that nothwithstanding the misfortunes of the war had to be overcome, Missouri had since 1866 nearly doubled the value of her taxable property. Her population had been vastly swelled, and she has never been so prosperous before, and this took place under Republican rule. Labor should not only be honorable and dignified, but it should be paid in good money. No class of men are so robbed and plundered by the depreciated and fluctuating currency as laboring men. The merchant may hoard up his merchandize for high prices, and a land owner can hoard his land for a higher value, but you can not hoard up labor for a rise in prices. When there comes a fall, labor is the first to feel it; but when there is expansion, labor is the last thing to feel it. Labor should always be educated, and children of laboring men in this respect are placed on an equal footing with those of rich men The Republican party is in favor of advocating everybody that possesses the very spirit of the free school system of this land. While the body of the Democratic party are no doubt in favor of free schools, yet so far as I know all the enemies of free schools are in the Democratic party. Ponder that well; and I tell you that when the assault upon free schools comes, and come it will some time, that the Democratic party, if then in existence, will lead that assault.

TARIFF AND FREE TRADE.

He discussed the questions of a tariff and free trade at considerable length, announcing himself in favor of revenue reform, but desiring incidental protection to our home manufactures, and taking generally the same ground he has occupied in speeches in the Senate.

TAXATION.

In regard to taxation he said the Republicans had caused, at the session before the last, the repeal of $57,000,000 of internal tax and $25,000,000 of the tariff Now our Democratic friends are already clamoring about taxation, but when they come to the passage of that bill which relieved the nation of $85,000,000 of taxes at one blow, I believe it did not receive a single Democratic vote. They are always in favor of relieving the taxes on articles that are not included in the bill. They are in favor of the other article, and when we put the other articles in the bill, then they are in favor of the other articles, and they never get to the point where they vote to reduce taxes. He predicted that the next session of Congress would further reduce taxation from forty to fifty million dollars.

THE NEW YORK RIOT.

Speaking of the late riot in New York, he said that the leading Democratic papers of that city justified Mayor Hall's order, prohibiting the Orange procession, and such were the leanings of the Democratic party.

KU KLUX.

He sketched the circumstances which brought the KuKlux bill into existence, and defended the bill in strong terms, saying that it is one of the best measures that ever passed Congress; the moral effect of it has already been wonderful. The mere passage of that bill has already saved hundreds of lives and thousands of men from torture and punishment. It is dangerous only to murderers and robbers, and to that class of Democratic politicians who have been hoping to be able to carry all the Southern States for the Democratic ticket by means of this very Ku-Klux organization.

THE "NEW DEPARTURE."

He had very little faith in the new Democratic departure, and did not believe the party could necessarily change its opinion in so short a time. There is not one man in a thousand among the Democrats in the Southern States who accepts the amendments, and there is not one man in fifty among the Democrats in the Northern States that accepts the amendments. They cannot come into power while the amendments or reconstruction acts are still in issue. They cannot carry the Northern States, they say, therefore they must take such course as they may by which they can get into power.

PAYING THE NATIONAL DEBT.

What will the Democratic party do when it comes into power? Suppose they get the President and the control of the Government, the South will dictate the policy just as they did before the war, and now the question comes, if the South gets control of the party, and they are in power, will they tax themselves to pay the pensions of northern soldiers without their own are provided for and are upon the same footing. I ask that question as a question of logic? Will the Southern Democracy come into power and ever consent to tax themselves to pay a pension to the Northern soldiers who took part in their subjugation? while their own are unprovided for. I tell you they will not, and the power which will justify pensioning the rebel soldier and putting him on the same footing with the Union soldier, would be a greater conciliation than even a general or universal amnesty. And they will use the same argument in regard to the payment of the national debt. They probably would not insist upon paying the rebel debt, but would put it in another way and refuse to vote a dollar for the payment of the national debt except on condition that the slaves of the South be paid for.

AFFAIRS IN MISSOURI.

Reverting to affairs in Missouri, he said he did not come here to take part in any local trouble; he would bury them outright I want all Republicans, regardless of past differences, to rally for the great principles of the Republican party. I believe the dominance of that party is necessary for the salvation of this country. Whatever may have been your opinion of that party, it is to-night simply a question between a Democratic and Republican President. There is no middle ground for you to occupy; you are either upon one side or the other. If you fail to vote on the Republican side, it is a half vote for the Democratic side. I ask you, in view of these considerations, to lay aside all your past differences and come together in the great contest which is now before you.

Botkin, of the Chicago Times, delivers the address, and the Philharmonic Society of Milwaukee perform the opera of "Martha." The structure is pronounced to be one of the most elegant in the Northwest, and no expense has been spared by the generous and wealthy proprietor to make it an ornament to the city.

FATAL ACCIDENT.

MADISON, August 17.—Edward Young, aged twenty-two years, only son of Hon. E. W. Young, of Prairie du Chien, was thrown from his buggy and so seriously injured that he died on Wednesday morning.

INDIANAPOLIS.

American Scientific Convention.

INDIANAPOLIS, August 17.—The American Scientific Convention held its second session to-day. Prof. Asa Gray, the President of this meeting and of the Association, took the chair about ten o'clock, and read a letter from the officials of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, tendering the courtesies of the road to the members of the Association for a trip to the Mammoth Cave. On motion, a vote of thanks was returned for the invitation.

The President announced that a meeting of the Standing Committee will be held at nine o'clock on Monday morning to decide upon the place for the next meeting of the Association and to nominate officers for the next year. The Standing Committee submitted a report recommending the acceptance of the invitation extended by the citizens of Terre Haute to make an excursion to morrow, as invited in the programme issued by the local committee. On motion, the thanks of the Association were rendered the citizens of Terre Haute and the railroad Company for the invitation.

The President announced that it is intended that the business sessions of the Association shall be held at Terre Haute, and that there will probably be a lecture delivered in the evening.

The General Secretary read a number of names proposed by the nominating committee for membership of the Association, making the number of new members, including those admitted yesterday, thirteen. Prof. Putnam, the General Secretary, reported that additional papers had been handed into him for entry, which runs the members up to eighty-four.

The regular session of the Association then adjourned till three o'clock P. M., under the rule adopted yesterday, and the members seperated into sections. Section B was called to order by the President, Prof. Swallow, who requested the section to choose a temporary chairman for each day Subsequently Prof. McChesney was nominated and elected President pro tem. Prof. Elliott Cowe's paper of the "Mechanism and Extension in Birds Wings," was then read in his absence by the General Secretary, Putnam. Prof. Eugede W. Hilyard, of Massachusetts, then read his paper on the "Geological History of the American Gulf,' which he illustrated by maps, showing the formation of the Mississippi embankment from Cairo to the Gulf coast. The great embankment was originally a portion of the Gulf, which heads at Cairo, and is bordered chiefly by caloriferous rocks. It has been filled up by a successive deposition of the cretaceous, tertiary and quarternary formations. It is a study especially important for comparisons with the interior of the continent. The subdivisions of the cretaceous in the Mississippi and Alabama can readily by paralleled to those of the interior. In Louisana they probably embrace the rock salt beds as well as the sulphur and gypsum of Coleasien. Most of the succeeding territory is of a liquetic character, but always interspersed with marine beds. The grand gulf group of rocks fills the whole interval to the drift. It is of a brackish character, almost devoid of fossils, and proves the gulf to have been at one time separated from the Atlantic. The orange sand or stratified drift was the strict equivalent of the northwestern modified drift on a very large scale, covering the whole Gulf States to a considerable depth. Geology should agree as to a more precise use of the word "drift," so as to embrace the whole period from the territory to the Champlain era of depression during the latter, which formed the Port Hudson, paludal and lettoral deposits, extending along the coast as well as up the principal valleys; for example up to Memphis and Shreveport. Above these lies the loess or bluffs. The present coast as a whole rather advances than recedes to the Mississippi delta by the strong action of the wind lump up-heaval.

This paper elicited quite an extended discussion, which was participated in by Profs. Wallow, Winchell, Hilyard, White, Perry, Little, Andrews, Wells, Owen, and others. Prof. Edwin Swore then gave an abstract, illustrated by drawings on the blackboard, of his paper on the "Development of the Tarsal and Carpal Eones in Birds." In the discussion that followed Prof. White, of Iowa, Prof. Hilyard and Prof. E. D. Cope took part, the latter giving an illustration on the blackboard of the transition of the bird.

Papers were also read by Prof. Theodore Gill, on the "Characteristics of the Primary Groups of the Class of Mammals," and by Prof. E. D. Cope of the "Primary System of Fishes."

Section A was called to order by the permanent Chairman, Prof. J. Lawrence Smith, and papers were read on the following subjects: By Prof. Daniel Markwood, on the "Distribution of the Mean Distances of the Minor Planets;" by Prof. E. B. Elliot, on "Rates of Interest Realized to Inventors on the Securities of the United States;" by Prof. John N. Stockwell, an "Enquiry Concerning the Physical Relations Between the Masses and Mean Distances of the Planets;" by Prof. Samuel D. Tillman, on "Chemical Equivalence;" by Prof. P. H. Vanderweyde, on the "Invisible Caloric Extreme of the Solar Spectrum and the Non-Caloric Lines, or the Bands in the Same;" by F. H. Safford, the "Relation Between the Disc and the Proper Motions of the Stars;" by Prof. Joseph Henry, on the "Rain-fall in the United States," and by Prof. Edward R. Taylor, on "Improvement upon Egertz's Method of Determining Carbon in Steel." The members of the Association will leave by special train on the Terre Haute and Indianapolis Railroad, at seven o'clock, visiting the coal fields and furnaces in Clay county, arriving at Terre Haute to-morrow evening, and return to this city Saturday evening.

OGDENSBURG.

Baron De Carmin.

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., August 17.—When Baron De Carmin arrived to deliver the anti-Catholic lecture last night the hall was closed. The demonstration of the mob was such that the lecture had to be taken to the police head quarters for protection. The authorities subsequently succeeded in clearing the streets. The Baron was escorted to his boarding house.

The rioters of the Baron de Carmin lecture affair are still defiant. Mayor Proctor to-day issued a proclamation stating that there have been manifestations of a tumultuous character in the city for the past two nights, occasioned by the interruptions of a public meeting, and public feeling is now in such a state of excitement that further and perhaps serious trouble may be apprehended. He warns the persons to preserve the peace and calls on all well-disposed citizens to assist in maintaining order and the liberty of free speeth assuring the citizens that he will use all the power vested in him to protect the rights of all. A special meeting of the Common Council was held this morning, at which it was resolved that the right to free speech should be maintained at any cost. A large number of special policemen were apppointed and the troops will be called out if necessary.

5:10 P. M.—Thomas Daly and a number of the leaders of the mob of Wednesday evening have been arrested. At this hour no hall has been secured The excitement is increasing. The friends of law and order are determined that the lecturer shall be heard. The police headquarters are guarded by one hundred special policemen in addition to the regular force. The Mayor is personally in charge. Many suspected rioters are on the streets, awaiting movements.

MAINE.

Coroner's Inquest.

BANGOR, August 16.—The coroner's inquest in the case of the Maine Central Railroad disaster was concluded to-day, and a verdict was given that Thomas Gallagher came to his death on the 9th of August by the breaking down of the bridge; that the examination shows the timbers to be very rotten; that the Railroad Commissioners made an examination of the bridge in 1870, and again in connection with the Superintendent of Bridges employed on the road on the 8th of June, 1871, both of which failed to discover thedefects, and that a thorough examination would have detected the rottenness of the timbers.

Railroad Collision.

BALTIMORE, August 17.—An accident occurred to-day on the Northern Central railroad, at Ashland, fifteen miles from this city. The freight train stopping at Ashland was run into by the following train. James Little, brakeman, was killed, and W. T. Clendennin, brakeman, terribly injured. Several cars we smashed. One engine was badly broken.

MEXICAN GRANT CLAIM.

WASHINGTON, August 17, 1871.

COLLECTOR APPOINTED.

George A. King has been appointed Collector of Revenue for Nevada.

THE WEATHER.

The area of high barometer which was on Wednesday afternoon advancing over Wisconsin, is ... advancing Lake Mich... ...igan; but the pressure is lower than yesterday, and a very rapid fall on Lake Superior has commenced to-day. The low pressure in New York State advanced Eastward beyond our stations, and a rising barometer prevails Northward and East of Pennsylvania. The area of low barometoer, with indications of a severe storm reported on Wednesday morning, is probably now central in southern Florida, but no reports have been received since yesterday morning. Light local rains prevailed Wednesday night from Alabama to Arkansas, and throughout the Ohio Valley, and later in the night on the middle and east Atlantic coast. Cool and clear weather has been generally reported to-day from those regions and northward to Lake Superior. Heavy fires are reported from the coast of Saginaw Bay, with smoke and haze southward and eastward

Probabilities. — Southerly winds with local storms are probable for Friday north and west of Illinois; clear weather for the interior of New York and New England to-night, followed by cloudy and threatening weather Friday noon and afternoon. A severe storm is probably advancing northwestward over Florida, which will bring strong easterly windsand rain to the south Atlantic coast and northerly winds to Alabama.

MEXICAN GRANT CLAIM.

COLFAX'S ADRESS TO A SUNDAY SCHOOL.

On Sunday evening last, at Winona, Minnesota, Vice President Colfax, who was the guest of Senator Windom, briefly addressed a Sunday school connected with the Congregational Church. He said it was not his intention on coming into Minnesota to indulge in public speaking under any circumstances, but when invited to say a few words in a Sunday school, he could not refuse, for among the happiest recollections of his life were those of the time he had spent in the infant class to which he had been taken by his mother when about three years old. For some twelve years it was his privilege, and he considered it a great privilege, to be a teacher in a Sunday school, and one of the sweetest rewards of his life was the assurance of a young man about to enter the ministry that it was through his instrumentality that he was led to that calling. The speaker considered that the injunction of our Saviour to Simon Peter, "Feed my lambs," had come down to us, and it devolved upon a Sunday school teacher to realize the responsibility that rested upon them in dealing with the immortal souls committed to their care. He dwelt with much emphasis upon the beneficial influence exerted by the Sunday school in home circles and upon society at large. It makes children more tender, more respectful, more obedient.

PITTSTON, PA.

Funerals of the Victims.

PITTSTON, August 16.—The funerals to-day were attended by the largest concourse of people ever seen in Pittston. Business was generally suspended, and groups of people with sad countenances were to be met everywhere, discussing the dreadful calamity. Of the seventeen persons that perished fifteen were Protestants and two were Roman Catholics. The funeral services of the former took place in the Odd Fellows' Cemetery, and were conducted with very imposing ceremonies. The diferent lodges of Pittston and the adjoining sections of country were present in large numbers, and were decked in mourning. The scene at the Cemetery was heart-rendering. The fifteen coffins were upon a platform, around which the mourners were seated. Twelve clergymen of different denominations of different localities occupied the seats on the platform. The funeral services of two Roman Catholic miners were held in the Roman Catholic Church, where high mass was celebrated in the presence of an immense concourse of people.

INTEREST INCREASING.

There is an increasing interest manifested in the probable developements, which will be made by the Coroner's jury. The sentiment is, that the neglect of duty of some persons in authority has caused the disaster.

Drowned.

CHICAGO, August 17.—A young man named Burns to-day, in attempting to jump from the Clark street bridge to an abutment, while it was swinging, fell short, and was precipitated into the river and drowned before he could be rescued.

FIRE.

The Lafferty Brothers' livery stable at Cambridge, Illinois, was burned last night with its entire contents, including sixteen horses. The barn of the Inman House was also consumed.

NEW YORK.

Speculations about Cholera—A Test Case—Verdict Rendered—Staten Island Ferry Company—International Society—Geneva Conference—City Expenses—Interest in "Globe Printing Company" to be Sold—Internal Revenue Defalcations—Meeting Fixed.

NEW YORK, August 17, 1871.

INTERNATIONAL SOCIETY.

A correspondent of the World, writing from London, August 8, refers to the late meeting of the General Council of the International Society held in that city, from which it appeared that the agents of that organization were at work in Spain, and had been provided with funds to create disturbances there; that information had been received announcing the establishment of an International club and starting a newspaper entitled La Conmune at New Orleans, America; also that a section had been formed in Washington, which was composed principally of journalists—Washington being the great political centre as New York was the commercial. It was reported that the Pope had denounced the International Society as subversive to the peace of Europe. Mazzini was attacked for his opposition to the organization, it being declared that he never was a member of it, and the statement is made that the working men of Italy were with the Association. The allowance of one pound a week for Paris refugees, and the Association in London, is reduced to a shilling a week for each person.

STATEN ISLAND FERRY COMPANY.

The officers of the Staten Island Eerry Company were taken before the Coroner this morning and committed to the Tombs prison, the Coroner declining to accept bail, though bail to any amount was offered.

Later.—The officers of the Staten Island and Ferry Campany have been brought on a habeas corpus before the Supreme Court. That tribunal will either fix the bail in a suitable sum or remand the officers back to the Tombs. The Coroner's refusal to bail is based on the advice of the District Attorney, who said it was against the rule to accept bail in cases of this kind.

Judge Sutherland has admitted Jacob Vand-rbilt, President of the Staten Island Ferry Company, to bail in $20,000, Braisted, Superintendent, and Robinson, engineers, in $10,000 each.

REVENUE DEFALCATIONS.

A special from Washington says: The Secretary of the Treasury will to-morrow issue a detailed statement of the defalcations and unadjusted accounts of Collectors of Internal Revenue since the establishment of the bureau. It will show that the actual amount of defalcations to the close of the last fiscal year was $2,768,397. Of this amount over one-third is credited to Louisiana, Collectors L. B. Collins, General Steelman and Eugene Tisdale alone being defaulters to the amount of $960,000. In view of the fact, however, that over fifteen hundred million dollars have been collected from this source, the per centage of loss is regarded by the Treasury officials as remarkably small. The amount of unadjusted accounts is only $460,000.

SPECULATIONS ABOUT CHOLERA.

The apprehension as to the approach of the cholera is becoming less alarming, in view of the measures which are being taken to its prevention. The opinions of leading physicians are being sought on the subject, but in the search made yesterday but two out of ten of the leading doctors were found out of town. One said that we rarely escape epidemics here when they prevail in England and France. The Brooklyn authorities say there is not the least danger of cholera or yellow fever reaching that city this year, and they have made no preparations for them beyond keeping the streets clean.

STATEN ISLAND FERRY.

The Staten Island ferry-boat Middletown commenced running yesterday. After the explosion of the Westfield the Middletown was laid up for repairs and refitting, but the residents of Staten Island believe that the boat is still unsafe, and have made complaints against the company because they have allowed the boat to be replaced on the line.

A TEST CASE.

A firm of wholesale druggists yesterday took measures to have the legality of Commissioner Pleasonton's decision, concerning the stamp duty on unbroken packages of foreign perfumery, tested by the Court. The importers claim that the ruling of Pleasonton's decision conflicts with the opinions of his predecessors, and cannot be sustained by law.

THE GENEVA CONFERENCE.

Judge Pierreport, of New York, is favorably mentioned as one of the American counsellors at Geneva Conference. Parties in a position to be well informed on the subject state that both Judge Pierreport and Hon. James Wilson of Indiana, had been approached on the subject. It is contemplated to send three counsellors.

VERDICT RENDERED.

ARKANSAS.

Ku Klux Outrages.

LITTLE ROCK, August 17.—The Ku Klux outrages reported at Gold Creek, Conway county, are said to have grown out of the following circumstances: A negro named Jule Reed, who keeps a water tank on the Fort Smith Railroad, had hired a little girl, an orphan, to assist his wife in work. A traveling preacher saw the girl at the house of a neighbor, learned that she was an orphan and lived with the negro, and told her that if she would leave there he would get her a good home in a white family. She returned home and told the negro. The latter immediately went in search of the preacher, and on finding him, cursed and abused the preacher at a terrible rate. That night several masked parties went to the house of the negro and fired several shots into it without doing any particular damage. The next day the negro came to the city with his family.

—A fire at Bloomsburg, Pa., Wednesday night, caused a loss of $75,000. No particulars have yet been received.

CITY COURT.

The question of the abolition of the City Court is being discussed in certain quarters, where it is claimed that proceedings in that Court have brought it into general contempt. Fines and imprisonment of attorneys practising before it for contempt have become quite common.

FIENDISH OUTRAGE.

A fiendish murder, accompanied by circumstances of a most horrible atrocity, has come to light in the southern part of this State. Last Saturday a little girl aged ten, a daughter of Esquire Thomas Bennett, living near Fulton Station, on the Paducah and Gulf Railroad, at the dividing line between Kentucky and Tennessee, was missing from home, and an anxious search made for her, but in vain. Suspicion at length settled upon a negro who had been working for Mr. Bennett since the war, and he was arrested, but escaped, and was shot and recaptured Becoming frightened, he confessed that he had attempted to commit a rape on the child, and finding her too small the beast choked her to death and then accomplished his infamous purpose with a knife, after which he threw the body into a pond and returned to the house to join in the search for her. At last accounts the incarnate fiend was in the custody of the citizens, but is probably lynched by this time.

AGRICULTURAL FAIR.

There will not be more than one-eight of an average yield of the former produced, while of the latter there is not sufficient raised to supply the home wants. Old corn now commands four dollars and a half per bushel.

At a meeting of the Board of Trade to-night there was adopted and ordered to be printed and forwarded to the members of Congress from Kentucky a memorial to Congress asking that the taxes on cotton be refunded in the Southern States for the years 1865, '66 and '67. The memorial is a strong and earnest protest against the alleged injustice of the tax.

AN ALLEGED MURDERER SURRENDERS.

A man named Bohanan surrenders himself to the authorities of an adjoining district as the man who shot Cook, found dead near Bagdad the other day. Yesterday the constable who had Bohanan in charge turned him over for safe-keeping to the United States troops near Bagdad. It is said the constable alleges that a mob came to take Bohanan from his possession, but were deterred by his determined resistance.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 17.—The Cloverdale stage has been robbed twice in Savanna county. It was attacked again by four or five robbers. Ten men and four women were passengers. Coffman, agent for J. Friedlander, of this city, and slightly wounding Sandy Woolsworth, the owner and driver of the stage. The robbers escaped. There is no clue. They got no plunder.

SING SING.

Escape of Prisoners.

SING SING, N. Y., August 17.—An extraordinary affair occurred at the Sing Sing prison to-day. At a quarter before twelve a tug boat having a canal boat in tow, and going north, was observed approaching the prison dock with considerable rapidity. The guard warned the pilot to keep off, and the warning was heeded apparently. Notwithstanding, the steamer glided close to the pier. Immediately twelve convicts, as if understanding the whole movement, made a rush from their work, leaped on board the canal boat and ran pell mell over it to the tug and into the engine room. The engineer was dislodged and one of the convicts dashed in to the pilot house and took charge of the wheel. Immediately the tug was headed for the west shore. An alarm was given as quickly as possible and many of the regular prison guards rushed towards the pier. They aimed their pieces at the convict pilot and shouted for him to stop, but he crouched down out of sight and the vessel still kept moving. Word was sent to Sparta, a mile south, where a sailing vessel was procured and sent in chase. Childs, of the prison, also started up the track to the Sing Sing dock, where was a government sloop under way, filled with armed men. One of the vessels sent out to capture the convicts overhauled the tug near Rockland, when the convicts took to small boats in the vicinity, which some boys had, and rowing quickly to the shore, escaped to the mountains. One convict who got into a boat with a boy was pressed so close that he seized the boy and placed him before him so that the guard would not fire. The guard did fire, not at the escaping convict, but with an intention to intimidate him and cause him to surrender. He kept on pulling instead, and reached shore where he joined his associates.

Laflin, the inspector, states that the convicts are now in the woods near Rockland, and will be recaptured, as they are surrounded. It is believed that this affair was planned two weeks ago in New York city. The tug boat was the Dean Richmond, and the captain a Mr. Morton. The engineer was Farrell. A boy was also on board, named Warrell. Both are under arrest. The tug left New York at 6:30 this morning. The captain says two men hired him to come to Sing Sing and convey a load of furniture to New York. They hired him for the same purpose a fortnight ago, and he came up, but after landing, the men said the furniture was not ready, and they would go back. They paid the Captain one hundred dollars on board the tug to-day. After the tug was captured there was found on board the convicts' clothing, a number of false whiskers and moustaches and several revolvers, which were brought from New York. All the convicts had ample time to change their clothing for suits brought up on the boat. After they left the prison dock the escaping convicts cut the canal boat loose so as to give more speed to their vessel. As soon as the affair occurred all the convicts in the prison were locked up, and every guardsman was sent in pursuit. It is believed that two of the men who planned the escape are in the mountains with the convicts. It is possible that desperate fighting will take place in the mountains on the west shore before the convicts are captured.

A dispatch has been received from Superintendent Kelso, stating that two men have been arrested at Englewood, N. J., supposed to belong to the gang which escaped. Before dark to-night musketry firing was heard in the direction of Rockland on the west shore, and it is thought that an encounter has taken place between the convicts and the pursuing guard.

A petition was signed by leading physicians of the State to the Legislature to pass the foregoing bill, which was presented and ordered to be sent in with the document. Adjourned.

Iron in Prussia.

The German Correspondent published in Berlin says: The late war did not check the mining enterprise of Prussia, as the following extract from the annual report on the iron-works of this country proves. In 1870, 53,528,008 centners of iron ore, with a value of 6,569,798 thalers, were raised. The number of mines worked was 1,137, which employed 22,-902 men, and 40,505 women and children. The various mining districts contributed to the above-mentioned quantity in the following proportions; Breslau 8,841,499 centners, value 653,486 thalers; Halle 133,-689 centners, value 5,912 thalers; Dortmund 10,313,663 centners, value 666,098 thalers; Bonn 30,117,387 centners, value 4,892,304 thalers; and Clausthal 4,122,770 centners, value 332,692 thalers. The mines belonging to and worked by the State yielded 1,696,015 centners, value 208,326 thalers; the mines leased out by the State 42,680,085 centners, value 5,676,125 thalers; and other mines 9,151,-908 centers, value 667,344 thalers.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 112¼@112⅜.

AN ACCIDENT, singular in its results, occurred last week upon the Houston and Great Northern Railroad about fifteen miles from Houston, Texas. Some rascal, hopeful for booty and careless of human life, fastened a stick of wood across the track and awaited the coming train, which soon arrived and was well mashed up. Fortunately, however, but few persons were injured, and—here the singularity of the affair comes in—they were all officers of the road. The President broke his leg, the General Superintendent was severely bruised, and an engineer was fatally injured. It is not often that railway officials taste the sweets of a mash up, and perhaps if they could be made personally responsible in this way, there would be less carelessness and fewer mismanaged roads.

THE Judicial District (16th we believe) composed of the counties of Bedford, Somerset, Fulton and Franklin, has, in October, to elect a President Judge to succeed the late lamented Judge King. Upon his death the Governor promptly appointed to the position, until the next election, William Maclay Hall, Esq., of Bedford, who, we are glad to see, has been nominated for election. In this, we think the Republicans of that District have acted wisely. Judge Hall is a ripe scholar, a sound lawyer and an honest and fearless man, in all respects coming up to the standard of what is, in these times, required to make a good judge. We trust that our Republican friends in that district are, or if not yet that they will be, fully awakened to the importance of securing his election, to effect which, as the district is a close one, will require vigilance and a full vote. Let these requisities be attended to well, and in time, and thus secure for ten years, an able and upright Judge.

THERE can be no reasonable doubt that the cholera will be in America before very long now. It has already made its way to London, and by last accounts three vessels from Russia were in quarantine at Hull, England, all with cholera on board. To us it seems as if, humanly speaking, the only hope that we have of escaping the devastations of a pestilence within the coming year, is based upon vigorous action and unremitting vigilance by the boards of health. That our cities and boroughs are not in the sanitary condition that they should be, is evinced by the prevalence of small pox, and fevers of a typhoid and intermittant type, to a far greater extent than is usual among us even at this season of the year. The cholera is now upon the high seas, at any moment we may learn of its arrival at the lazzaretti of any of our seaport towns, and, once there, it will easily penetrate to the shores, and before winter we may have in our midst an enemy that scoffs at frost and cold, and is as deadly in mid winter as it is in the dog-days.

THE ANTHRACITE COAL REGIONS seem to be the most afflicted by God and man, of any portion of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Scarcely six months ever pass that some terrible calamity does not overtake the people in that section. Either it is a strike, which throws thousands of unwilling men out of employment and renders their existence and that of their wives and families matters of grave doubt, or it is some terrible disaster in the collieries, by which scores of men are crushed, burned, suffocated or starved to death, down in the bowels of the earth. It is but a short time since the termination of one of the most bitter, stubborn and uncompromising strikes, recorded in the history of trades' unions, and now we have the particulars of another terrible disaster, by which twenty-one human lives were sacrificed, some burned to death, some choked and one man blown to pieces. The mine was old, and fortunately not working so many men as formerly, the dreaded fire damp had been suffered to accumulate in the worked out shafts and galleries, and when accident caused the fall of a mighty mass of rock the concussion of the atmosphere was so great that air was forced back to the fastnesses of the explosive gasses, and there, combining with the carburetted hydrogen, rebounded to where one of the unfortunate men had a light and then an explosion took place, which killed some instantly, fire followed, which burned others to death and those who were not thus killed, were penned into the mine by the fallen masses of rock and perished more slowly by suffocation. The tale is a terrible one, but it is yet more terrible to reflect that it is possible that the calamity might have been prevented. It is only too probable that the owners and the miners had grown careless and that the proper and legal precautions had not been taken. The coroner is now investigating and if it should appear that the managers of the mine are to blame, what broad shoulders they must needs possess to bear up so terrible a load of guilt! But mortifying as such a confession is, it is more than probable that the investigation will terminate as is usual in such cases, without any results.

THAT DEFALCATION.

The Philadelphia Bulletin, a day or two ago, startled the tax-payers of the State with the announcement that Mr. George O. Evans, of Philadelphia, special agent for the collection of the war claim held by Pennsylvania against the general Government, had defaulted to the amount of $291,046.41, or in other words, having collected that much more from the United States authorities than he paid over to our State Treasury. While the exposition apparently shows a great fraud, it does not necessarily follow that one has been perpetrated. On the showing of the Bulletin the case appears as follows:

"Mr. Evans was appointed under the act of 22d of March, 1867, which provides that the Governor shall 'appoint a special agent to collect the disallowed and suspended claims of the State against the United States, whose compensation for that purpose shall not exceed ten per centum of the amounts thus collected, and shall be paid out of such collections.' He collected from the Government, Mr. Boutwell, Secretary of the Treasury, certifying to the amounts, the following sums, at the dates given:

1867, May 1	—Draft order Gov. Geary...	$78,516 89
" May 2	—Exchange of drafts for advancement of State direct tax	1,364,711 43
1868, June 8	—Draft order Gov. Geary..	3,732 50
" Oct. 28	—Draft order Gov. Geary..	105,651 46
1870, Aug. 27	—Draft order Gov. Geary..	13,846 09
1871, April 11	—Draft order Gov. Geary..	137,8[illegible]2 [illegible]9
" May 15	—Draft order Gov. Geary..	242,167 37
" June 23	—Draft order Gov. Geary..	298,753 00

These payments were all made directly to Mr. Evans, to the order of Governor Geary, except possibly the large draft for $1,304,711.43, which had been partly adjusted before his appointment and with which he was only nominally connected. All this money, except the commission upon the whole sum collected, amounting in the aggregate to over $2,300,000, and about a hundred thousand dollars has been paid into the treasury or placed to the State's credit, and can be accounted for on the books. This is the showing of the "exposition" of the unaudited and incomplete accounts of a public agent."

Now it is just here where the alleged charge for fraud or defalcation comes in. Mr. Evans and the State authorities were doubtless aware of the fact long before the exposition was made, he having endeavored to effect a settlement, withheld the ten per cent. commission allowed by the law creating his office, or $291,046.41 the exact amount of his defalcation. The question arises whether the agent had a right to withhold his salary. We think not. Such proceeding on his part was not, strictly speaking, dishonest, but was very, irregular and unbusiness like. The State Treasurer very justly demands that the full amount, dollar for dollar, collected from the General Government should be paid over to the State, and then make the settlement of the commission on the sum so paid in, an after consideration. We have no doubt but the matter will be satisfactorily settled to all parties, and the alleged fraud will settle down into an ordinary business transaction wherein parties differed as to how some things should be done.

THE LICENSE QUESTION.

Mr. Joseph Dilworth, candidate for County Commissioner on the Republican ticket, is opposed to the drinking of liquor, of all descriptions, whether whiskey or beer.—Post.

We are authorized to state that the article from which the above is taken is a tissue of LIES, from beginning to end, and the man who was base enough to write it knows it. He is mean enough to stoop to the dirtiest work of corrupt partizanship, in order, by exciting the prejudices of our German population, to gain a few votes for his miserable party. The German people are too manly and intelligent not to see clearly through such a disgustingly mean effort, and will cast it aside, as beneath their notice.

Is the Volksblatt in favor of Joseph Dilworth for County Commissioner?—Post.

Here is the secret of this vile attempt at deception. The Post knows that the Germans are, as a class, fond of a glass of beer, and consider it a privilege hardly second to any that they have it, and it attempts to convince them that Mr. Dilworth is opposed to the selling of liquor. He is no more so than every good citizen should be. He is in favor of restricting the sale of liquor, in order to prevent intoxication, and who is not, even among the Germans? They are not a nation of drunkards. One seldom sees a German intoxicated. They believe in the use of beverages, but they do not countenance an abuse of them. In several German societies, the by-laws provide for the expulsion of any member who is known to be under the influence of liquor. Therefore we insist that the Germans as a class, being good citizens, and this no man will dispute, are in favor of all proper and beneficial restrictions, so that the privileges they enjoy shall not be abused by society, and thus lead to their abolition.

Mr. Dilworth is in favor of a just and proper enforcement of the laws on this subject, as upon all others. He is in favor of granting licenses to all, who under the law, are entitled to them, always keeping in mind the public necessity, and the public safety. He is not, as the Post charges, "a fanatical and radical temperance man," but the opposite of it. He is a TEMPERATE man in all of his ways, habits and methods, and for this reason he will make a Commissioner who will prove highly acceptable to all. While on this subject we will state that we have the most positive proof that Mr. Dilworth will receive the support of many, if not all of our best liquor dealers, those who are satisfied with the present liqur laws, and want a firm, decided, fearless and honest Board of Commissioners who will do their sworn duty. We have been waited upon by several of our most prominent liquor dealers, Democrats, as well as Republicans, who have announced themselves as strong advocates of Mr. Dilworth's election. They say, as indeed what good citizen does not, that there are entirely too many low doggeries, where vile poisons are sold to the besotted and vicious. They say further that their own safety and protection demand that this number be reduced, and only those who are entitled to a license, through good character and the necessity of the people, receive them. And even in the sale of beer, what citizen demands that almost every other house shall be licensed? Is it not enough that sufficient houses be licensed to accommodate the public? Is it necessary to grant every license that is asked for? Is it not much better to have fewer places where liquors can be had, and those places protected and enabled to keep good and pure drinks? We are now looking at this subject from the stand point of moderate and intelligent drinking men, or men, who are not opposed to taking a drink of brandy, or whiskey, or beer if they feel that they need it. This class we think, are in the majority in this community, and that being the case, we think their sentiments should command respect, although it is probable many of them would gladly forego their pleasures and sacrifice their own tastes altogether, by abolishing the liquor traffic entirely from the land. But this is impracticable and unnecessary. Let the wishes of the temperate men, those who do not oppose the use, but the abuse of liquor, be carried out, and any one who needs, or thinks he needs it, can obtain it. The extreme temperance men, on the one hand, and the mad caps who would license every applicant, without regard to his character, on the other, are not a majority in this community, and their wishes widely antagonistic, are not complied with. We think our present license law is a good one, and we rejoice that the people have secured the services of a board, who will honestly, and conscientiously execute it, in the interest of all the people, and not in the interest of any one class. What we have said in reference to Mr. Dilworth and his intentions, applies with equal truth and force to our other candidate, Mr. McGunnigle, who is fully alive to the necessity of a faithful enforcement of the laws, and who will act justly and impartially towards all.

RUSKIN'S UTOPIA.

Magnificent Gift to the English People—How it is to be spent—Much Cry and Little Wool.

In the current number of Fors Clavigera an announcement is made by Mr. Ruskin that he has received the money for some property which he sold in the beginning of the year, and that he had resolved to give £1,000 to the public. He requested his man of business to invest that sum in consols, in the names of two men of honor. Mr. Ruskin thus describes his plan of dealing with this sum:

"I will tell you a little more of what we are to do with this money as it increases. First, let whoever gives us any be clear in their minds that it is a gift. It is not an investment. It is a frank and simple gift to the British people; nothing of it is to come back to the giver. But, also, nothing of it is to be lost. This money is not to be spent in feeding Woolwich infants with gunpowder. It is to be spent in dressing the earth and keeping it, in feeding human lips, in clothing human bodies, in kindling human souls. First of all, I say, in dressing the earth. As soon as the fund reaches any sufficient amount, the trustees shall buy with it any kind of land offered them at just price in Britain. Rock, moor, marsh or sea-shore, it matters not what, so it be English ground, and secured to us. Then we will ascertain the absolute best that can be made of every acre. We will first examine what flowers and herbs it naturally bears; for every wholesome flower that will grow shall be sown in its wild places, and every kind of fruit tree that can prosper; and arable and pasture land extended by every expedient of tillage, with humble and simple cottage dwellings under faultless sanitary regulation. Whatever piece of land we begin work upon we shall treat thoroughly at once, putting unlimited manual labor on it, until we have every foot of it under as strict care as a flower garden; and the laborers shall be paid sufficient, unchanging wages; and their children educated compulsorily in agricultural schools inland, and naval schools by the sea, the indispensable first condition of such education being that the boys learn either to ride or to sail; the girls to spin, weave and sew, and at a proper age to cook all ordinary food exquisitely; the youth of both sexes to be disciplined daily in the strictest practice of vocal music; and for morality, to be taught gentleness to all brute creatures, finished courtesy to each other, to speak truth with rigid care, and to obey orders with the precision of slaves. Then, as they get older, they are to learn the natural history of the place they live in—to know Latin, boys and girls both—and the history of five cities: Athens, Rome, Venice, Florence and London. Now, to what extent I may be able to carry this plan into execution I know not; but to some visible extent, with my own single hand, I can, and will, if I live."

A Strange Story.

The Hartford (Conn.) Courant has the following:

"The inhabitants in the vicinity of the town house were aroused a few nights since at midnight by a succession of horrible shrieks, groans and imprecations, as if proceeding from a person in mortal terror. As they rung out in the still night air they were enough to send a chill to the stoutest heart. The building was dark when the shrieks were first heard, but a light was soon seen moving towards the place whence they proceeded. The sounds then gradually lessened and were at length succeeded by subdued moanings, after which silence reigned again. Those who had been aroused, did not easily recall the slumber so rudely interrupted, and many a dream of demoniacal horrors must have visited their couches before the morning broke."

"Anxious to investigate the affair, a gentleman went to the town house where he learned the following facts: The keeper was one of the first aroused and proceeded to the cell whence the sounds proceeded. There stood a man, clinging to the bars of the window, his hair tossed wildly about, perspiration streaming from his brow, beseeching in the most abject manner to be taken out of the cell. He prayed, cursed, swore and declared he would die if kept there much longer. He was taken out and was, with great difficulty, brought to his senses, when, in faltering and broken sentences he told his story. He had been sitting upon the side of the bed about two hours without feeling any desire to sleep, when suddenly a female figure dressed in white rose slowly through the floor at his side. Terrified at the apparition he shrieked loudly for help, and as he did so the figure grew larger and larger until it became about four times life size. He then rushed for the door, where the keeper found him clinging to the iron bars. The keeper was certain the man was not suffering from delirium tremens, as he exhibited no signs of intoxication when brought there two days before, and of course had nothing spirituous to drink while there. He had been arrested for vagrancy.

"What makes the affair still more strange is the fact that just a year ago that very day, an inmate in the same cell had aroused the keeper in precisely the same manner, begging to be taken from the cell, and affirming that he saw a white female figure rising from the floor. The matter has created no little stir in that part of the town; there is no end to the speculation and retailers of ghost stories are in high glee."

A French Romance.

A certain count, we are told, who resided in the Quartier St. Germain, had the misfortune to be killed during the bombardment. There was nothing of course peculiar in that; to his house attaches all the interest. The authorities, on visiting it, found a certain closet on the third floor so constructed that a person stepping into it was at once carried down, for all the world as if he were on an hotel elevator, to a dungeon on the ground floor. From this the only possible egress was through a secret door known, it is presumed, only to the Count, and in another secret closet where were all sorts of surgical and scientific appliances. There was also found by the greatly-wondering gendarmes a manuscript book, in the Count's handwriting, explaining the mystery. The Count, it seems, was an enthusiast in galvanism, and his zeal for science went so far as to make all his friends the involuntary aids to his researches. For instance, he gave a little dinner party, and when the guests were perhaps a trifle flushed with wine, decoyed one of their number to the fatal closet, where he rapidly descended to the dungeon and was as speedily chloroformed and killed by the alert Count. Then this devoted inquirer experimented to restore his hapless guest to life, but it is, perhaps, needless to say that he was more successful in preparing his subjects than in restoring them to their former condition. On one pretext or another it was easy for this earnest man to keep himself supplied with subjects, and the fact that they do not seem to have been missed furnishes to a French romancer no difficulty whatever. Apart from the consideration that nobody is ever missed in Paris, from Emperor to gamin, there are always plenty of roving Englishmen and casual Americans to satisfy the requirements of the most exacting philosopher, and no questions asked. Many such, no doubt, found their way to the Count's underground atleier, and contributed to the advancement of science. But for the ill-timed bullet that stopped this indefatigable search for truth, they might have been finding their way there still; for we are well assured that so zealous a student would have abandoned his quest only when he had found his philosopher's stone, or when he had no longer any friends left to kill and unsuccessfully galvanize.

Hard-Shell Crabs in a Street Car.

(From the Baltimore American Aug. 8.)

No little consternation was created in a South Baltimore City passenger car last evening, caused by a dozen and more of hard-shell crabs making a circuit of the floor of the vehicle. These unusual passengers belonged to a young man who had caught them in the vicinity of Ferry Bar, and a gentleman in entering the car at the corner of Camden and Sharp streets, accidently stumbled against the basket, and in a twinkling the crabs were traveling about the floor in all directions. A lady in the car was first notified of the presence of the crabs by a sharp pain in one of her ankles, and when she discovered what caused the pain she uttered such a scream as almost threw another lady passenger into spasms. The crab maintained a stubborn hold upon the ankle, and at last a gentleman essayed to remove the monster, and in so doing he evinced the fact that he was not posted in the art of pinning a crab, as the latter, quitting his hold upon the lady's ankle, caught the thumb of the gentleman, and just here a new source of trouble arose; the sudden attack of the crab caused the man to utter a peculiar expletive, and in his agony he described a swift semi-circle with his left hand, and with such force as to detach the body of the crab from the claw which encircled the thumb of the gentleman, and the crab went full into the bosom of the lady mentioned as being almost afflicted with spasms. Her screams now made "confusion worse confounded," and in less than a minute after the basket of crabs had been overturned the livliest scene imaginable was going on in that car, but the crabs were finally captured and returned to the basket, and quiet restored "along the line."

THE WHARTON CASE.

Mrs. Wharton's Son Not Poisoned.

[From the Baltimore American.]

Prof. Aiken delivered yesterday to Fred. Pinkney, Esq., Deputy State's Attorney, a communication, of which the following is a copy:

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND,
August 15, 1871.

A. Leo Knott, Esq., State's Attorney:

Dear Sir.—After completing a careful analysis of the various matters brought over from Norristown, the fact has been established that they do not contain any of these poisonous compounds one might reasonably have suspected to be present. The same fact has also been established in relation to the brandy you handed me some time since, and consequently none of these substances can supply any evidence against any suspected party.

Very respectfully.
W. E. A. AIKEN.

The above communication refers to the stomach and liver of Henry Wharton and a bottle of brandy sent by Mrs. Wharton to a lady in this city. Thus the charge against Mrs. Wharton for poisoning her own son falls to the ground for want of evidence. Mr. Pinkney had anticipated the report of Professor Aiken, and had previously informed Mrs. Wharton's counsel of the result of the analysis, that it might be communicated to her. It is only charitable to presume that she foresaw what would be the tenor of the report.

This intelligence will doubtless be matter of congratulation to the friends of the accused, but it dashes the hopes of at least one New York insurance company, which had cherished the expectation of being able to recover $10,000 paid to Mrs. Wharton at the time of her son's death. Whether there will be an investigation of the charges against Mrs. Wharton of poisoning Mr. Edward Wharton and his daughter remains to be seen. In justice to the accused the bodies should certainly be examined. The result of the analysis of the remains of her son will have a telling effect upon the sentiment of the community, though as matter of evidence it is only negative in its character. All traces of vegetable poisons would have disappeared, and a chemical analysis at this late day can only show that no appreciable amount of metallic poison remains in the body. Mrs. Wharton's health has steadily improved since her removal to the tower of the jail. She is still weak, however, and seldom leaves her bed. Her daughter is unremitting in her devotion to her mother, and furnishes an example of filial affection as rare as it is beautiful.

How a Diamond was Lost and Found

[From the Boston Transcript.]

A few years since, a gentleman engaged in the lumber business in Maine, having an appreciative eye for a fine diamond, and being convinced that a real gem would, if properly bought, be a safe investment, accordingly commissioned Mr. Charles Kennard, the well-known jeweler on Tremont street, to purchase for him a stone, about a thousand dollars in value, which was mounted as a spiral-backed stud.

As months rolled on the owner was offered by connoisseurs constant advances on his purchase, which temptation only made him value his gem the more, and he said to himself, "If it is worth that to them it is to me; and I will keep it till forced by necessity to sell."

In April of last year, while working on his boom of logs on one of the streams of the Kennebec, having on a shirt, the stud hole worn large by service, he saw his sparkling brilliant fall from his bosom, strike the log, and glide quietly into the swift current below.

Determination to regain it overpowered the regret of his mind. He kept his loss where his stud should have been—in his bosom. Sounding the depth of water, he found it to be about seven feet; he then decided to wait till the summer drought should bring the stream to its lowest ebb, and taking accurate measurement of the place, by the bearings of the rocks and trees on shore, allowing eighteen inches for the change of direction by the current, he left his treasure to complete with the dace and shiner, in fascinating the river mermaid, and returned to his Massachusetts home.

The September following, six months after the loss, the river being then at its lowest point for the season, the undaunted lumberman started for his diamond. The riverful of logs, covering the place, had been sawed and shipped, and now only a few inches of water trickled over the spot where the stud fell. He took with him a large tin colander, the holes of which were of a size to hold the prize if found. He had determined to work a fortnight, before giving up the gem as lost, and to have all the river bottom to go through his handy kitchen strainer. He made his first dip of gravel and water as nearly as he could calculate, eighteen inches down the current from where it struck the surface of the stream, seven feet above. And a lucky dip it was! for at the bottom of the pan lay the lost gem, bright and sparkling as when it came from the jeweler.

The above incident is a good illustration of Yankee patience and tact, as well as a warning to those who wear diamond shirt studs.

The Game of Fly Loo.

The story about the "new" game of fly loo is in its annual rounds again. The version is this year given by the Cincinnati Commercial, and is as follows:

"The detestable canker that destroys men's souls had made its appearance among the little community of pleasure seekers at the Yellow Springs, under the auspices of a celebrated Alderman of this city, who is notorious for the alacrity with which he will bet on anything, from the juvenile game of 'pick or po' to the relative length of straws to be plucked out of a hay-stack, and in the enticing form of 'Fly Loo.' It is in testimony that every afternoon from twenty to thirty of the very flower of our mercantile population retire to a private room, and under locks and bolts give themselves up to this satanic game. The players solemnly seat themselves around a table, each with a lump of sugar, and a card bearing in plain letters his responsible name and representing so much money in front of him, and, with a silent gravity that would become a watch-meeting, and the illy-concealed anxiety of men staking their all on the cast of a die, await the advent of the first fly. On the buzzing insect comes, sweeping now toward this lump, then veering off toward that, sending thrill after thrill of anticipated triumph or expected disappointment through the frames of the anxious watchers. At last the agony is over. The atomic insect, all unconscious of the important part he is playing, the reversals of fortune that he is causing, settles lightly upon a particular lump of sacchyrine, and twenty-nine disgusted men lose from $5 to $25 each, while the delighted representative of the sweet morsel chosen, scoops in the whole pile. This decides one 'hand' at the dignified game which has run 'poker,' 'seven-up,' and 'Boston' completely away from the Springs, and another and another 'pot,' and 'pots' ad infinitum are made up and won and lost in the close, hot room, while the deserted ladies are languishing for a little male conversation below."

A Loud Cry From Hessen.

In Baden the Ultramontanes have hitherto observed a greater appearance of moderation than in any other of the neighboring States, and they probably have their reasons for doing so. The leaders of this party in Hesse, however, seem resolved to make amends for any want of earnestness which their sympathizers in Baden many have shown. Thus, the Starkenburger Bote, inspired, it is said, by Bishop Von Ketteler and his friends, produces the following article, which certainly cannot be blamed for any want of plain speaking: "The Governments of Europe must now come to a decision. Two ways are open to them. If they resolve to restore the temporal sovereignty of the Pope they will find the Catholics the most obedient of their subjects, who will be easily satisfied in all purely political questions. If, on the other hand, they recognize the robbery of the Church, let them expect a war to the knife against the newly established order of things, a fierce and a decisive war without treaty or compromise. Let the Governments know our patience was great, but it has now come to an end. We Catholics have a right to demand the liberty of our Church, and it is the duty of the Governments to satisfy our demands; we pay them the blood-tax, but we are tired of being cheated by vain promises. The only assurance we demand is the withdrawal of Victor Emmanuel and the complete restoration of the Papal States. We do not ask for this guarantee humbly as an act of grace; no, we demand it imperatively as our right. Hear it, ye mighty of the Earth; hear it, ye Governments, whatever your names may be; hear it, Bismarck, Gladstone, Beust, and Andrassy. The Catholics bid you satisfy their just demands, and interfere in favour of the Holy Chair; believe us; do not neglect our warning. If you do not restore the Catholic Church to all her rights, not one of the existing Governments will continue to exist."

A TEMPORARY BUILDING for the German Reichstag (Parliament) is in process of erection at Berlin, which is to be completed by October 5th, and on which workmen are at present employed day and night.

A RICHMOND correspondent tells a story at the expense of Henry A. Wise, which if true, may have a moral to thoughtful minds. Wise, as the story runs, was employed by a man to defend him in a suit brought by a negro tenant whom he had ejected. The plaintiff easily obtained judgment for damages, and when Wise demanded $50 as his fee, the client sent him a check for the amount, "payable to Henry A. Wise for services not rendered." This naturally excited the ire of the Ex-Governor and Ex-General, and rejecting the offer of his son on the ground that the latter was too fiery and impulsive to manage the matter, he interviewed his client himself, and after a somewhat heated discussion, struck him in the face and then kicked him vigorously!

ATTEND TO YOUR FEET—CORNS.

One of the most wonderful preparations which has come into use recently is ROBINSON'S CORN PENCIL, which removes from the feet these troublesome excrescences, and that, too, without any pain. Robinson's Corn Solvent dissolves and disintegrates the corn entirely, leaving the feet as smooth and healthy as if the corn had never been there.

It not only removes corns, but warts and bunions, and indurations of any kind are freely removed. Let any one whose feet are troubled with these pests try it at once, and every particle of indurated matter can be removed from the feet.

They are sold at 50 cents each, or by the dozen, at KEYSER'S, 167 Liberty street. Sent by mail for 60 cents.

HELP FOR THE NERVOUS.

Where is it to be found? cries the trembling victim of nervous debility. Not in the tavern dram: that fires up the circulation for a moment, and is succeeded by collapse. Not in purgative pills, or a Lenten diet, but in an invigorant and restorative in which the tonic elements are united with gentle aperient and alterative properties. When Hostetter's Stomach Bitters was introduced nearly twenty years ago, this important object was first attained. This peaceful and active vegetable specific is as justly celebrated for its cures of nervous diseases, as for the absolute certainty with which it relieves dyspepsia and biliousness. The hot weather towards the close of summer generally aggravates diseases of a nervous type, creating a degree of feebleness which is beyond measure distressing. Under such circumstances rally the bodily energies with a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Of all tonics it is the most satisfactory in its operations, and the least exciting. It braces the nerves up to their natural tension, but not beyond it, so there is no reaction. It has other properties, however, than those of a nervine, and as a blood depurent and moderate aperient, it is superior to any other medicine of the day.

Fraud, however, is on the alert. The celebrity of the original medicine has given rise to scores of counterfeits and imitations. Examine the label and the fac simile of the signature of the firm; see that the spelling is all correct, and thus make sure of the genuineness of the article you buy.

P. S.—Hostetter's Bitters are never sold in kegs or barrels, but in bottles only.

NEW YORK, August 17, 1871.

Gold market was firmer towards the close of day; with sales at 112⅛. This advance was partially based on the reports of lower prices for bonds in Europe; there was an exceptional quotation, at 112⅞; loans made at from 1-64 to 1-16 for use. It is reported that the clique to-morrow intend to effect a squeeze, and make cash gold worth more than for a long time past; clearances, 33 millions; amount bid for at Treasury, $6,369,000, at from 111.55 to 112.40; awards: one million, at from 112.32 to 112.40. Governments strong and higher in sympathy with gold; the subscription syndicate forwarded to Washington to-day the amount of $550,000. Stock market opened active and strong with increased business; Pacific Mail and Northwestern were the features; with the exception of these two stocks the markets have been dull and steady; the principal dealings have been in Western Union, Union Pacific and Erie. Express stocks have been strong on small transactions. The speculative interest was centered almost in Pacific Mail; the dealings in this stock were enormous, and aggregated from 75,000 to 100,000 shares; the two extremes of the day were 50⅜ and 52⅜, with the bulk of business at 51 to 52; at one time during the day there was a great pressure to sell, and 30,000 shares changed hands within fifteen minutes and within the narrow fluctuation of ⅜ per cent., or say from 51⅛ to 50⅜; the Bulls predict a material advance next week when the big operators return from the races. Money was easy at 2@3 per cent. State bonds were dull and neglected.

GOVERNMENTS.—Coupons, 1881, 118⅞; 5-20's, '62, 114⅜; '64, 114⅜; '65, 114⅜; do new, 113⅜; '67, 113⅜; '68, 114⅜; 10-40's, 114; currency 6's, 115⅜.

—The "Pennsylvania Railroad Company" and the "Pennsylvania Company" are two distinct corporations. The former is the well-known railroad that by its original charter connects Harrisburg with Pittsburg, and by various leasing and control of other lines now connects Philadelphia with almost all points in the interior out to the western end of the Union Pacific Railroad. It is, as it stands to-day, the most extended and important railroad in the world. The "Pennsylvania Company" is a comparatively new corporation, having been created some two years ago, and though believed to be in the immediate interest of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, it is nevertheless distinct and alone responsible for the liabilities created in its name, though it is really but a Bureau representing the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's interest west of Pittsburgh. It is this "Pennsylvania Company" that has just completed the negotiations for the lease of the Jeffersonville, Madison and Indianapolis Railroad, and has also secured a controlling interest in the Ohio River bridge at Louisville. By this arrangement the "Pennsylvania Company" secures control of all lines crossing the Ohio River at Cincinnati and Louisville to the south and northwest. It is understood that liberal arrangements will be made with the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad for the use by the latter of the bridge at Louisville.—Phila. Ledger.

PITTSBURGH MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, August 17, 1871.

ASHES—Common Soda ash, 4@4⅛; refined 4⅛@4⅜; Pearls, 9; Pots, 7⅜; Nitrate Soda, 4⅜.

BROOM CORN—Quoted at 5@7 cts.

BUTTER—The demand for strictly prime butter is increasing, and we now quote at 18@20, the outside figure for choice in small packages. There is no improvement in the common and medium grades.

BEESWAX—Quoted at 33@35c.

CEMENT—Louisville, $2,50@3,00 per bbl. Rosendale, $4,00@4,50; Calcined Plaster, $4,25@4,50.

CORN MEAL—The demand continues light and almost wholly of a retail character, and we continue to quote at 80@85 per bushel.

COUNTRY BACON—Very dull, and holders are anxious to close out. Country Lard also dull at 8⅜@8⅜.

CHEESE—The market is quiet and unchanged; 10@10⅜ for prime Ohio Goshen; 9@9⅜ for Factory, and 8@9 for Dairy.

CARBON OIL—There is a fair jobbing trade, but prices are lower in sympathy with the decline in crude; we now quote at 22⅜@23 for standard brands—usual advance for small lots. As noted the other day, the time is fast approaching when there should be a good many orders flowing in from the west and south, and it is probable that Pittsburgh will have a larger home trade this fall than for several years past.

EGGS—Continue very dull, and, notwithstanding, the receipts are by no means large the supply is still in excess of the demand. Fresh eggs cannot fairly be quoted above 12. Some dealers are inclined to think that in case the weather should turn cooler that the market will react, as in that event it is contended that there will be an improved demand.

FRUITS—There is no improvement to note in the demand for Apples, and with fair receipts and a good supply, prices are weak and drooping; sales at $1,50@2 per bbl for fair to good and $2,25@2,50 for choice. Peaches continue to arrive freely, but with a steady demand, prices are fully maintained, $1@2 per box, as to quality and condition. The bulk of the arrivals within the past week have been in better condition. Plums—the receipts continue large, but there is no falling off in the demand and prices are still maintained, $3@3,50 per bushel. Pears $3@5 per bbl. Grapes 6@8 cts per lb.

FLOUR—Is quiet and unchanged; good spring extras, $6.50@6.75; choice baker's flour, $6.80@6.90; good to choice red winter wheat, $6.50@6.75. The feeling generally seems to be steadier than it was a few weeks ago, though the impression still prevails that there will, sooner or later, be a further decline in prices.

GRAIN—The offerings of Wheat, for some reason or other, continue very meagre, and, with a steady milling demand, prices are well maintained. Prime to choice old red may be quoted at $1,28@1,30, and new at $1,18@1,22. Oats continue sluggish, and, with liberal receipts, stocks accumulating, and no improvement in the demand, prices are weak, though not quotably lower; we continue to quote at 40@42 buying and 45@47 selling. Corn is offering freely, and the demand seems to be light and mainly local; mixed shelled, 62@63 and prime yellow, 66@67—sale 1 car ear at 64. Rye is firmer and we hear of several sales on private terms; may be quoted at 73@75. Barley is quiet, and the probability is that there will not be much life in the market until next month; brewers will not commence malting until the weather becomes cooler, and they are not anxious to carry any Barley while there is danger of it "heating."

GROCERIES—Coffees continue strong and considerably excited, particularly in the east, and, with diminished offerings and an improved demand, prices are still tending upward. On the other hand, Sugars are weak, and, while there has been no quotable decline as yet, the indications at this writing are very "bearish," and point to lower prices; stocks are reported heavy at the sea-board, and the receipts continue large. Molasses, Syrups, etc., continue very dull, and no improvement need be expected until the weather becomes cooler.

COFFEE—Fancy Rio, 21; Prime, 19; Good, 17⅜; Fair, 17; Roasting, 15⅜@16⅜.

SYRUPS AND DRIPS—White Honey, 70; Havemyer & Elders, 70; Silver Drips, 60; other grades, 45@55.

SUGARS—Choice New Orleans, 11⅜; prime, 11 good, 10⅜; fully fair, 10⅜; Porto Rico Sugars, 10@11; Cuba, 10@11; Demarara, 11@12.

REFINED SUGARS—Hard Sugars, 14; A Coffee, 13; "B," 12⅜; Extra C, 12⅜; C, yellow, 12⅜.

MOLASSES—New Orleans, choice, 70; prime, 68; good, 65.

RICE—Choice Carolina, 10; prime, 9⅜ cts; good, 9⅜.

SPICES—Grain Pepper, 22c. Pimento, 17c. Cloves, 20c. Cassia, 55c.

HONEY—We can report sales in a regular way at 25@30 cts per lb. for fair to choice.

HIDES—Green Salted, 10⅜@11⅜; Green Butcher's, 8; Dry Flint, 21@22; Green Calf Skins, 14@15; Green Salted Calf, 17@18.

HUSKS—Quoted at 2⅜@2⅜ cts.

HAY—Baled Hay is reported all the way from $23@28 per ton, by the car load, according to quality and condition. The receipts are again on the increase, though, as yet, not large.

HEMP—Quoted at $165 per ton.

LIME—Perrysburg white, $2,00@2,25 per bbl; Cleveland $2,25; Eastern, $1,75.

MILL FEED—Is quoted steady, in a jobbing way, at $21@22 per ton for Bran; $33@35 for Middlings and $40@43 for Oil Meal.

ONIONS—$3@3.50 per bbl.

OIL—No. 1 extra (Pittsburgh make) still quoted at 70@72 in a jobbing way.

PEA NUTS—Quoted at 11 cts.

POULTRY—Is quoted lower; 50@60 cts per pair for young, and 65@70 for old.

POTATOES—Unchanged and dull; sales at $1.7@2,25 per bbl. Baltimore Sweets, $4,00@5 per bbl. Jerseys, $6@7, according to quality.

PROVISIONS—Plain shoulders 6⅜@7; sugar cured shoulders, 10; Breakfast Bacon, 12@12⅜; clear sides, 9⅜@10; ribbed sides, 8⅜@8⅜; sugar cured Hams, 14⅜@15⅜; Dried Beef, 18; Lard, 10@10⅜ in tcs; 11@11⅜ in kegs; 12@12⅜ in buckets. Mess Pork, $14.

RAGS—Sales, 4@4⅜ cts per lb.

SEEDS—Timothy Seed is weak and lower, and we reduce our quotations to $3,50@4,00 per bushel. Clover Seed is quoted, in the absence of sales, at $7,00@7,50. There is a steady demand for Flaxseed at $1,80, and, as yet, the arrivals have been very light.

SUMAC—Sales Tennessee Sumac at 4⅜ cts.

WILLOWS—Quoted firm at 10 cts.

WATER MELONS—Sales at from $10 to $20 per 100, according to quality and size.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY August 17, 1871.

The most important feature we have to record to-day, is a stronger feeling, not only here, but also in the east and the oil regions; though there was little or nothing done. The only cause that can be assigned for this slight improvement, if such it can be called, is that the impression has begun to prevail that the bottom has been touched, and that prices, particularly for refined are not likely to go much lower. There is no disputing that refined oil is low, entirely too much so, when the price of crude is taken into consideration, and while an appreciation in the former is very desirable, especially by refiners, there is really no good or substantial reason why there should be any advance in prices of the latter. Furthermore, it is not generally expected that there will be any very material advance in refined, if there is any, so long as the foreign outlook is so unsatisfactory; it is well known that exporters have been buying very sparingly for some time past, owing to the scarcity of tonnage and high rates of freight, and, therefore, higher prices would have a tendency to still further curtail the export demand.

CRUDE.

Firmer, and, as compared with yesterday, prices are quoted a shade higher. Spot, 11⅜@12; seller all year, 11⅜; buyer all year, 12⅜. Lower Creek, $4,70; Parker, $4,50.

REFINED

Also quoted a fraction higher. August, 23⅜@23⅜; September, 24⅜@24⅜; September and October, 24⅜; buyer all year, 24⅜.

OIL BARRELS.

Continue very dull, though prices are nominally unchanged; 1,60 for country and $1,7 for city—delivered.

Grain and Produce Exchange.

There was again a very good attendance at the grain and produce exchange yesterday; many of the leading grain and produce firms were represented, and the indications are that the enterprise will be a success. Quite a number of new members were enrolled and everything passed off harmoniously and satisfactorily. Following sales were made:

2 cars Rye, on private terms.
1 car Corn, on private terms.
2 cars Oats, in elevator, 47.
1 car Oats, on track, 45⅜.
1 car Ear Corn, 66.

It is very desirable that the members be on hand as near the time as possible, 10 A. M., and that they bring samples of whatever they are prepared to offer with them.

A Flat Oat Market.

With an occasional unimportant exception, dullness and depression have been the ruling features of the oat market during the past ten or twelve days; in fact trade has been in a very unsatisfactory condition. The general disposition on the part of holders was to sell and not allow stocks to accumulate on their hands, but in the absence of any call beyond the actual demand for immediate wants and for feed, etc., an increase of supply on hand could not be prevented. With receipts averaging 150,000 bush per day for the period under review, and a large quantity back in the interior waiting shipment, together with very favorable advices as to the growing crop, present prices can hardly be sustained, and the general impression is that the current figures must be modified 5c to 6c per bush before buyers can be induced to resume operations with any freedom. The only apparent hope now left for the holder of stock is the speculative demand which usually occurs at this season of the year. The receipts of the preceding week averaged about 50,000 bushels per day.—N. Y. Bulletin, 16 th.

Dry Goods.

NEW YORK, August 17.—The dry goods market is rather inactive, and writers for the daily press have been misled in reporting the trade active and setting in early. The real facts of the case are, that jobbers anticipating their wants, bought long lines of staples before the rise in prices; but the country trade has not yet come forward to take those stocks off their hands, and hence some of them are beginning to get restless. People in the interior are generally busy harvesting and are in no hurry to anticipate their wants. The trade will open about a month later, perhaps, than usual, but September is likely to bring a good active trade at very full prices. So long as money is easy, crops abundant, and raw materials remain high, prices will remain steady and uniform. A repetition of prices is unnecessary.

RIVER NEWS.

The river is about stationary at this point with two feet in the channel by the marks. The rains of Wednesday evening cooled the atmosphere considerably, though it is not likely that they will have any influence on the river.

The Billy Parsons, from Wheeling, arrived and departed. Her officers report that the river is lower at present than it has been at any time this summer.

Capt. C. W. Batchelor has presented the "Pilots Association" with a fine engraving of the new City Hall, and the Secretary of the Association, Capt. W. H. Dorsey, has room for it, and more.

Capt. Wash. Kerr, of the Granite State, is on the sick list.

—We clip the following, in regard to the coal fleet, from the Cincinnati Commercial of Wednesday: The towboats Bengal Tiger and Niagara arrived from Pittsburgh, and were awaiting orders from Pittsburgh last night relative to returning to Pittsburgh with tows of empty coal barges. They both stuck on Four-Mile a couple of hours. The towboat Ed. Hobbs, in charge of Captains McMillan and Cully, arrived from Wheeling last night, with 4 boats laden with fire brick and clay—two for Cincinnati and two for Louisville. She left 2 boats of railroad iron at Huntington. Her log reads as follows: Passed Michigan lying at head of Blanny, with 5 barges of coal. The Sam. Roberts sunk 1 barge of coal at Belleville; passed her lying at Sheridan Coal works with 5 barges in tow, and a feeder. She had 2 syphons running in 1 of her boats. Passed J. S. Neal at Ashland, with a tow of coal and salt; passed Coal Valley at Ironton, with 6 barges of coal and 2 fuel flats; passed Veteran at head of Jeannette Shoals, with 2 coke and coal-boats; passed Charlie Bowen at Sciotoville, with a tow of Pomeroy coal; passed Sam. Clark, with 2 feeders, and the Leopard with 3 coal barges aground at Four-mile.

—A terrible storm passed over Oshkosh, Wisconsin, and vicinity, Monday evening about 9 o'clock, tearing and twisting everything in its course. Fox river is impassible even for skiffs for a distance of two miles above the city on account of the breaking up of rafts of logs. News is just received from the Wolf river boom that the tug Star was capsized and her captain and another man drowned, and that nearly all of the rafts were broken up. The damage is as yet beyond calculation.

—The owners of the steamer Katie, Lee and Natchez have petitioned the city councils of New Orleans to lease to them, for the term of four years, one hundred and fifty feet front of the wharf, next above Canal street, and running back to Delta street, for the exclusive use of their steamers. They propose to pay to the city the sum of $50,000, or $12,500 annually, and to keep the wharf in good repair, and to pave where used with shells.

—The steamer Mollie Gratz sunk at 2⅜ o'clock last Thursday morning, about two miles off Pasagoula wharf, and in twelve feet of water. The steamer and cargo were owned by A. C. Danner & Company, of Mobile, and valued at $6,000. There was no insurance on the boat, but the cargo was partly covered in the agency of T. P. Miller & Co. No further particulars have yet been received.

—Capt. Perry has closed a contract with the Messrs. Howards, of Jeffersonville, to build his New Orleans and Arkansas river packet. She is to be 180 feet long and 26 feet beam. The Messrs. Howards have the contract to build the boat ready for business, and stipulate to have her completed by the 15th of November next.

—Capt. R. T. English, recently connected with the editorial department of the Memphis Appeal as commercial and river reporter, is lying dangerously ill, and not expected to recover.

—The Enterprise is due from New Orleans. She is loaded with rags for Louisville. On her arrivals there, she will be dismantled, and her machinery transferred to a new boat.

—The snagboat Tyler, Capt. John Doyle, is raking the snags and hoisting them out everywhere between Omaha and St. Joseph, and has greatly improved navigation.

—Nearly the entire cargo of the James Howard has been transferred to the bank, in order to lighten her off of the bar. The freight will be taken to Vicksburg in barges.

—The snag boat Zebra has finished work on the wreck of the McCullough, at Madison, and is now working on the snags at Grassy flats, on the Indiana side.

—One million and a half of dollars have thus far been expended on the Fox and Wisconsin river improvements.

—The Shannon got over French Island bar Saturday, and the H. S. Turner was expected to get over yesterday.

—The Warner, with two barges of ore, passed Pomeroy on Monday en route for Wheeling.

—The Argonaut is off the ways, at St. Louis, after receiving $7,000 repairs.

—The Wild Duck is still laid up at Pomeroy.

The attention of our readers is directed to the business card elsewhere of Messrs. Smith & Dawson, manufacturers of light locomotives, narrow gauge cars and general mining machinery. The works of the firm, located at Connellsville, are among the most complete in the country, affording employment to a large number of skilled mechanics, and turning out the best work in their line attainable in the country. Their light locomotives enjoy national reputation from their clever finish, grace, power and durability. The office of the firm is at No. 5 Monongahela House, Smithfield and Water streets, this city.

Brady's Bend Iron Works.

This mammoth establishment which has been closed for a while on account of the hot weather and possibly perhaps from the litigation in which the company is just now engaged will be opened up and in running order again, probably in a few weeks. The mill is undergoing thorough repairs and it is to be put in first class condition before work in it is resumed. There has been a change in the management. Mr. F. Wassell, former Superintendent having resigned, and Mr. A. Campbell being chosen to fill the position thus made vacant.

A Till-Tapper Caught.

There chanced to be a time, last evening, when there was no person in the confectionery store of Jacob Jochim, Ohio street, Allegheny. A colored youth noting this fact, slipped in with cat-like step and going behind the counter, quickly possessed himself of the contents of the money drawer, amounting to between six and seven dollars. A slight noise, however, that he made, attracted Mrs J's attention and softly opening a back door and taking a stealthy peep, she discovered the depredator. She immediately gave the alarm, and after a very short chase, the vicious "boy" was placed in the hands of an officer and conveyed to the lock-up, where he was assigned quarters for the night.

Stopped Her Fun.

An antiquated female, known as Mrs. Eckert, who resides on High street, Allegheny, has a peculiar passion which she has indulged unmolested for several weeks past. Her manner of proceeding was to carry dirt, stones hot and cold water, etc., to an upstairs front room, where she would while away the heavy hours by dropping "little drops of water," or "little grains of sand" on the unsuspecting passers by. To such an undue pass has this strange amusement of the lady's been carried of late' some aggrieved neighbors of hers have "let up on her" by lodging an information in accordance with the above statement, upon which she was last night arrested and conveyed to the station house.

Pittsburgh and Connellsville Railroad "Branches."

The branch railroad from Mineral Point, on the Connellsville Railroad, to the town of Somerset, in Somerset county, ten miles in length, has been graded and ballasted, and the work of laying the rails was begun yesterday, and will be completed by September 5th, if no unforseen event occurs to interfere. The branch road from Garret Station to Berlin, in Somerset county, distance eight miles, has been let and it is to be completed within ninety days.

A large part of the grading on the branch from Meyer's Mills, near Dale City to Salisbury, has been completed and work is progressing quite vigorously.

Hon. Felix R. Brunot.

The whereabouts of the new Indian Commissioner Hon. F. R. Brunot has for some time been unknown to his friends or the government.

Dispatches responsive to inquiry from Washington published in yesterday's GAZETTE reported him on the Columbia river. We learn to-day from a letter received from Mr. T. K. Cree that on the 5th inst., Mr. Brunot and party were on the Umatilla Reservation. It appears to be his determination to know from personal inspection in all places of possible access the true condition and wants of the various aboriginal tribes scattered over our National domain.

Mr. Brunot will doubtless be heard from in due time and the government and country be edified as to all that pertains to his office and its delicate and arduous duties.

Nuisances on the South Side.

The citizens of the different boroughs on the South Side are becoming alive to the fact that the filthy kept slaughter-houses in their midst are altogether incompatible with good sanitary regulations, and hence, they are determined to make a vigorous effort to have these nuisances abated, if such action is within the power of the law. As test cases, informations were made yesterday at the office of Burgess Jones, by Conrad Gundlach, against Louis Renner, John Spear, Charles Graul and George Kiefer, all of whom are butchers, having their slaughter-houses within the borough limits. A hearing was had, and Burgess Jones reserved his decision in the matter until to-day. If that decision is such as will compel the removal of these buildings as nuisances, other suits of a similar character will be instituted forthwith.

Serious Accident.

A man named James Kennedy met with a very serious accident between six and seven o'clock Wednesday evening. He attempted to jump on a street car on Penn street near Fourteenth but missed his footing and before he could get on the platform, was caught between the car and another one going in the opposite direction and was rolled round several times between the cars, bruising himself terribly, breaking every window on one side of each car and being cut badly in the face by the broken glass. The cars were stopped as soon as possible and the unfortunate man carried into Dr. Heid's drug store, where his injuries were attended to, after which he was carried to his home on Forty-fourth street. It is feared that he has sustained severe internal injuries. Every one expected to see him taken up dead, and a great panic prevailed among the ladies in the two cars. Mr. Kennedy is a young man, about twenty-six years of age. He is a plasterer by occupation, and in the employ of Wm. Bailey.

Obituary.

It is with feelings of pain that we record the demise of Mrs. Eliza Ann Maitland, wife of Mr. T. W. Lacock, which occurred yesterday morning at the residence of her husband, No. 237 Federal street, Allegheny. The deceased was yet in the morning of life, and but a few months ago had been united in marriage to her now bereaved consort. Her future seemed destined to be bright with happiness, but the bride had hardly laid aside the the wedding garments, when the mightier summons came and in despite of medical skill, and all the exertions of loving friends, after a painful illness of six weeks duration, her young life was cut short and her spirit passed from earth—from scenes terrestial, to things eternal.

Although so young, she had already won the esteem of acquaintances and the warmest love of friends, for her gentleness of manners affectionate disposition, and general excellencies of head and heart. Her death will be mourned by all by whom in life she was known, and their sympathies are fully accorded her grief-stricken husband and relations.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock.

The Catholic Library.

At the suit of N. J. Bigley, a member of the Catholic Library Association, the effects of that institution will be sold at Sheriff's sale. After the association had been incorporated by an Act of Assembly, an amount of money was raised by the issue of bonds, bearing six per cent. interest. These bonds were taken by friends of the association, among whom were Messrs. N. J. Bigley and James O'Conner. A short time ago the term of the bonds expired, and Mr. O'Conner made a demand upon the institution for payment. In this case a compromise was effected and proceedings stayed. It is now understood that the object of Mr. Bigley in pushing his claim is to force a sale for the purpose of clearing the Association of the debt with which it has long been encumbered, it being the intention of certain friends of the institution to buy in the property with a view to setting the concern on its feet again.

—We have learned, since the above was put in type, that Mr. N. J. Bigley is not the plaintiff in the suit against the Library Association. The bonds were made payable to Mr. Bigley, and the holders must therefore bring suit in his name "for use," &c. We are authorized to say that Mr. Bigley is not a voluntary party to the suits, and is in no way responsible for the present trouble.

Amusements.

FIFTH AVENUE OPERA HOUSE.—On Monday evening Manager Beamer will re-open this favorite house, with a first class company. The worthy manager has been most active during the summer vacation, and, as the result, has secured a stock company, than which no finer ever graced the boards of a place of amusement in this city. We know whereof we affirm, when we say that the new company is composed of ladies and gentlemen of acknowledged talent and superior attainments. Some well-known names and familiar faces may be recognized by those conversant with Pittsburgh theatricals, but none whom our play-goers will not welcome back with genuine pleasure. Harry Hotto, the old favorite, has been engaged as first low comedian, which announcement in itself should be enough to fill the auditorum with his admirers—their name is Legion. The opening entertainment will consist of the beautiful play of "Love's Sacrifice or the Rival Merchants," and the screaming farce of "Sarah's Young Man," Harry Hotto as Sloeleaf. Prof. Teorge's famous orchestra has been secured for the season, in praise of which it would be superfluous for us to speak. They have not to make a reputation with a Pittsburgh audience. During the summer the Opera House has been thoroughly renovated, no pains having been spared to perfect all arrangements tending to enhance the comfort of its patrons. Our people are promised by Manager Beamer a season replete with good things in the legitimate drama, which is a new departure in Pittsburgh theatricals. If the promises of the management are made good, as we feel assured they will be, the Fifth Avenue Opera House need not go begging for patronage.

Workman & Davis, 79 Federal street, Allegheny, have the handsomest stock of vehicles in the two cities, which they will sell cheaper than anywhere else to close out.

THE OPERA HOUSE SALOON.

A Magnificent Establishment Briefly Described—The Finest Billiard and Refreshment Saloon in the City.

Pittsburgh, with its rapidly accumulating population, its large and ever increasing commercial and manufacturing interests, and its consequent position among the first cities in the country, has, until quite recently, been without a first class establishment at which our citizens may find refreshments and recreation—refreshments served up in a style equal to that displayed in the splendid saloons of the great cities east and west, and recreation of a character which is altogether unexceptional, popular and pleasant. Such an institution is about to be opened to the public, and of that institution we have a few words to say.

In erecting the magnificent new Opera House, a description of which appeared in these columns not long since, Mr. Coleman, the proprietor, with an eye to the wants of the public, caused the entire space beneath the auditorium of the new and beautiful dramatic temple to be constructed with a view to the establishment there of a place of resort, on a plan so liberal and so well adapted to the purpose for which it was intended, that nothing of the kind ever before attempted here can approach it in point of convenience. Since the completion of the Opera House, workmen have been engaged in fitting up these lower apartments, and they have succeeded in giving us one of the finest billiard rooms in the country, the largest and most commodious restaurant in the city, and a barroom the equal of which is seldom seen anywhere.

These magnificent rooms have been leased by that well-known, popular caterer, Mr. George E. Reineman, and by the invitation of that gentleman we last evening paid a visit to the place, which, we confess, surpasses anything of the character that we have ever seen in the city.

THE LOCATION.

As we have said, the rooms are located beneath the auditorium of the new Opera House. They consist of a billiard room, bar room, dining room, kitchen, etc. The entrances to the place are: From Fifth avenue, through the main entrance to the Opera House, the door to the saloon being located immediately opposite the ticket office; this may be considered the principal entrance. The other is from Diamond alley, where four wide doorways lead to the billiard and bar rooms.

THE BILLIARD ROOM.

This apartment is sixty-five by eighty feet in dimensions, and contains ten new tables of the most approved style and of superior make. The walls of this elegant room are finely frescoed and are adorned with a number of beautiful and costly oil paintings, representing landscape scenes and prominent persons. Among these paintings we noticed portraits of Washington, Jackson and Bonaparte, while the lanscapes represent fine Italian and other European scenery, as well as views of historic ground in this country. Light is furnished by twelve superb chandaliers, in addition to which are the usual gas fixtures for lighting billiard tables, and numerous brackets placed at regular intervals on the walls around the room. The floor is of walnut and yellow pine, laid in alternate strips, the whole placed on a bed of cement, making it perfectly solid, thus precluding the possibility of the tables getting out of level.

A broad platform runs across one side of the hall, upon which are several rows of arm chairs for the accommodation of spectators. This platform is raised to a height sufficient to afford to those occupying it a good view of all parts of the room.

THE DINING ROOM AND KITCHEN.

In the dining room there are eight tables affording ample room for the accommodation of fifty or sixty persons. The furniture is of the very best kind, and is admirably adapted to the purpose. The walls are handsomely decorated with appropriate paintings, representing fish, game, &c. In addition to the main dining room, there is on the left, after entering, a small room containing four tables, designed for the accommodation of parties who choose to take their meals in private. In short, the facilities for serving meals are unsurpassable.

The kitchen is spacious, and is fitted up with all the conveniences known to the culinary art. Its dimensions are thirty-two by forty feet, and the height of the ceiling is twenty-two feet. For cooking purposes there are two large ranges, two steam tables and all else that goes to make up a complete kitchen outfit. In one corner is an immense flue through which will pass upward the smell of cooking viands, and the heat, which in the summer season is a desideratum.

THE BAR ROOM.

Without doubt the finest apartment in the entire establishment is the bar room. It is an apartment eighty feet in length by about thirty in width. On one side is a counter sixty feet in length, behind which are shelves on which are displayed a magnificent array of decanters and other articles. In the center of the counter is a fine marble fountain of beautiful design and elegant finish. Large mirrors confront the visitor on every hand, while the walls are beautified with costly paintings, one of which alone cost the large sum of nine hundred dollars. This picture represents a scene on the Tiber, and its dimensions are ten by twelve feet. The general arrangement of the bar fixtures are excellent, having been done in a manner that displays good taste and a lavish outlay of money.

At the lower end of the room is a fine marble oyster counter, which is by no means least among the attractions.

The cashier's desk is located in an opening between the bar room and billiard hall, the person presiding there having a full view of both apartments.

THE MEN WHO WILL RUN IT.

A word or two concerning the men who are to conduct an establishment such as we have described, will be interesting to the public. Mr. George E. Reineman, a young man who has been "brought up to the business," so to speak, will have sole command. Belonging to a family who have the reputation of being the best caterers in the community, Mr. R. enjoys all the advantages of their experience, and it would be strange, indeed, if he were not a thorough master of the art of catering to the public. In the bar room Mr. John C. Rooney, a gentleman of great experience, and who is widely known and very popular, will be found, assisted by a number of competent bar-tenders. Mr. John E. Flinn, a well known billiardist, will run the billiard hall, and we venture to say no one could be found who will attend to his duties more faithfully than John. The cashier's desk will be occupied by Mr David Strain, Jr., who some years ago held a similar position at the old "Delmonico" on Liberty street. David understands his business thoroughly.

The house will be thrown open to the public to-morrow evening, when the people can flock there and see and admire. We bespeak for the establishment the greatest success.

It is probable the mules will not recalcitrate against this innovation.

ARTIFICIAL STONE.

A Great Triumph of Science—Nature Rivaled And Stone Made Cheap and Popular.

Can artificial stone be made so successfully as to answer the place and purposes of the solid rocks and bolders hidden in the fastness of earth, or can the genius of inventive man, by scientific process, produce the same results as cost thousands of years of silent formation in the laboratory of nature? Throughout ages these questions have been propounded and the closer we approach the present time, we arrive nearer an affirmative answer. We do not presume that a substitute perfectly equal in durability to stone will ever be discovered; but its beauty has been more than rivaled and substitutes artificially prepared prove almost as lasting. Stone is so stubborn in its nature, that it can never grow popular, for from this very nature it is hard and expensive to utilize. Great cost attends the robbery from earth of it, and after obtained in rude shape, the tedious process of chiseling, shaping and dressing entails much skilled labor, and consequent comparative expense. Hence it is that any good substitute for stone, or to be more explicit and correct, any artificially made stone that is durable enough to stand for centuries, and resist the destructive elements of the atmosphere with the same degree of certainty as the genuine article, will command public attention and be awarded universal favor and adoption. Much to our regret and disappointment, we have seen many patent substitutes for the trimming and construction of buildings, prove, when subjected to use—a most inexorable test—failures. The inventive mind of the age, however, bends or yields not to disappointment, but sturdily and steadily pushes forward in investigation until the desired end, the closest approach to perfection, is attained. Such has been demonstrated in the history of the manufacture of artificial stone in this country. While most of the artificial stones presented for public favor are worthy the consideration of builders and others, still we regard that manufactured here at home, by the Bradocks Field Company, of Mills & Co., whose office is at the corner of Liberty street and Seventh avenue, an article is destined to work a revolution in building materials. It has received a large share of attention from the scientific builders of the country, and has universally been proclaimed the best substitute in the world for genuine stone.

The article referred to, is the Carl Shaffer patent, of which H. A. Gunther is assignor, and from whom Messrs. Mills & Co. have purchased the exclusive right of the county. It is manufactured of German Portland cement and the Connellsville sand rock, the latter having been put through a chemical process, by which the free lime is neutralized and the substance rendered invulnerable to the action of the sulpher, with which our atmosphere is impregnated. The stone is crushed, and after passing through the chemical process, is mixed with the cement into a mortar, and while in a plastic state is moulded to any shape or pattern desired. It can also be given any desired color except a pure white. It is peculiarly adapted for ornamental window caps, house fronts, cornices, and all the character of work in the construction of which cheapness of cost, beauty of finish, and durability of wear are valued as essential. The verdict of scientific skill has been impartially awarded in its favor, and they invite all to a careful examination of its merits and uses, and pass upon it the ordeal of a fair and just criticism; as it is foreign to their desire to palm off any humbug or set up fraud. It can be produced at one-fourth to one-half the cost of stone, according to the degree of ornamentation. It is particularly adapted for cemetery fences, curbing, vault floors, cheap tomb stones, &c., door and window sills, steps, corner and coach blocks, chimney caps water tables, tanks, coping, cornicing, belt course, house fronts, brewery floors, sidewalks, &c. Hearths are a specialty, being moulded to fit perfectly. Sidewalks, either continuous or in blocks of any size and pattern are made of this stone much cheaper than natural stone and superior to brick. Window caps, square, circular or elliptical, can be furnished at from $5 to $1, highly ornamented. Sidewalks laid at from 25 to 50 cents per square foot. Tiling for halls and vestibule at from 50 to 75 cents per square foot. For building purposes it will resist a pressure of one hundred and fifty tons to the square foot, which has been demonstrated by actual trial. Few natural stones will offer such great resistance to weight.

The manufactory at Braddock's Field of Messrs. Mills & Co., is thoroughly complete, and the firm are capable of filling all orders promptly and on most reasonable terms. Specimens can be seen at their office. The firm enjoy high reputation in this community for fair dealing and honesty, and as they are anxious to have the public thoroughly understand the merits of their invention, they invite all to call and examine for themselves.

POLITICAL.

The Mayoralty.

MESSRS. EDITORS: In your issue of yesterday, "Tax Payer," who no doubt pays no taxes, names up, and tries hard to say something sarcastic but evidently is as much of a failure at that, as he would be were he elected Mayor. He evidently don't think a man needs any dignity to make a Mayor. Now I beg leave to differ with him. The citizens of Pittsburgh are determined that the Mayor of their city shall be a man of dignity, who will fill the office, as it should be, not like certain men, whose names could be mentioned, filled it in times gone by. He thinks his point a good one when he says: "In fact the only open question now is, whether he, (Gross,) or Kaiser William support the greatest amount of that commodity." Judging from the above quotation "Tax Payer" thinks no man should support dignity unless he be a King or Emperor. We Americans think differently. We believe there is as much dignity here as in foreign countries, and believing this, intend selecting a "man of dignity" to fill the office. His other great point is, "Dr. Gross lets gratuitiously his park for pic nics now; formerly to Sunday school pic nics at ten dollars per day." Whether he gives his Park gratuitously for pic nics or not I can't say, but whose business is it if he does. He has as much right, and probably, more to give his own grounds free to amusements, than "Tax Payer" has to draw three thousand dollars a year from the Government as an employee, and spend the time he is paid for in electioneering. Dr. Gross does charge Sabbath school pic nics as it costs him that amount to pay those who keep the grove in order. All others charge from fifty to one hundred dollars for their's. I only wish we had some Dr. Grosses in this community who only charged ten dollars. "Tax Payer" had better try it again. A few more such communications is all the Dr. wants to secure his nomination.

OLD MERCHANT.

The "Dispatch" and Dr. Gross.

EDITORS GAZETTE: The Dispatch of yesterday publishes editorially what the general public might regard as an impartial survey of the field of city politics, and cooly says, in speaking of one of the candidates for mayor, Dr. Gross, that "He has evidently a clear lead of his opponents, and unless some new combinations are entered into before the primary election, or there be fraud at the polls, we cannot see how his nomination is to be defeated."

This sort of bolstering is well understood in political circles, and can only do harm among those who are not up to the tricks of the journalistic trade. Of course, it would never do for the Dispatch to openly espouse the doctor's cause, when it can better accomplish the same result indirectly, by proclaiming him to be the "winning nag" in the race. In this way the malignant opposition of those newspapers which have lost the city printing and other fat jobs to those candidates who were instrumental in effecting retrenchment and reform may be easily understood, as well as the cause of the "shouting" for candidates who are, as they say, "gentlemen of ample fortunes!" The frozen truth is, that all the candidates are equally sanguine of success, but no decided judgment can now be ventured upon as to who shall succeed at the polls. The public will not vote for candidates upon the theory of their being gentlemen of elegant leisure and blessed with "ducats," broad acres and fat horses. A higher standard will probably be demanded. Is he capable? Is he honest? In other words, does he represent the republican idea rather than nobility and wealth? The people will decide this question, I think, differently from the wishes of the Dispatch at the republican primary elections on September 2.

SMOKY CITY.

Captain Ben W. Morgan.

EDITORS GAZETTE: If you will allow me the use of your columns, I will say a few words for the gentleman whose name is at the head of this paper. I have known Mr. Morgan since he was a boy, and have always been interested in seeing him succeed. He commenced life a poor lad, losing his father when very young, and all that he has and all that he is, is owing to his hard labor. He is wholly and completely a self-made man, never having received the benefit of a collegiate education. He was born and grew up in Pittsburgh, and has always maintained a character for honesty, energy and close application to business. He was for many years engaged at the Pittsburgh Gas Company's office as a collector and served them well in this capacity. After leaving them he engaged in the oil business and has there met with his usual success. He has been the main stay of his mother and sister, and all of his life has been a kind son and loving brother. The whole community is well aware of this young man's efforts in the City Council, where as the fearless and out-spoken champion of retrenchment and reform, he succeeded against the bitterest opposition in saving the city thousands of dollars, and to-day he stands the acknowledged defender of the city's interests. I care not what his enemies may say, I know Mr. Morgan intimately, and I feel perfectly safe in saying that the city could not be in better hands. He attacks wrong wherever he finds it, and is fearless in his denunciations. The working men and the business public will find in him a worthy representative, and my word for it, he would make one of the best municipal officers our city ever had. I speak decidedly, because I know Mr. Morgan so well, and have learned through long years to love him for his manly character. I ask all good citizens to give him their support at the primary election in September 2d, and they will never have cause to regret it.

RAMBLES IN VENANGO COUNTY.

Franklin—Cooperstown—Sunville—Chapmanville—Dempseytown.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

AUGUST 15, 1871.

I closed my last letter just as the train on the A. V. R. R. approached the city of Franklin. Franklin is almost as old as Pittsburgh, but has grown into importance and became a city, principally within the last ten or twelve years. It has grown some since our last visit about eighteen months ago. Some fine buildings have been erected. The interests of the city demand the speedy replacing of the bridge over the river to the A. V. R. R. depot. We understand it will be commenced soon.

From Franklin we journeyed out over the hills in a northerly direction about eight miles to Cooperstown in the valley of Sugar Creek. This is one of the prettiest little valleys in Western Pennsylvania, and as good as it is pretty. Cooperstown has a population of about ten or twelve hundred, with the usual supply of stores and shops of various kinds; one flouring mill and a woolen factory, two churches and a post office. The medicine men are allopathists, except one; he is botanical.

Next we came to Sunville, a very "wee" town, five miles east of Cooperstown. There are several stores and shops, two churches and a post office, but no physician, though sometimes the people get sick and need physic.

Next we came to Chapmanville, three miles north of the last place named. This town is situated on the Meadville and Titusville road, has a population of several hundred, also the usual supply of stores, shops and post office, one physician and one church. From here to Demseytown, eight miles south, and within eight miles of Franklin and Oil City. Here, too, are several stores and shops, two churches and a post office, with a fine farming country all around it. An abundant harvest has been gathered in this part of the country. Apples and peaches, plums and pears, are comparatively a failure, but small fruits are very plentiful. Potatoes are very abundant. More anon.

Yours, &c., C.

THE NEW ROUTE TO CHICAGO.

Preliminary Action in the Enterprise—The Engineers to Report To-Day.

The new enterprise which is to give us another railroad line to Chicago and the West is being pushed with every energy and in a manner which indicates that President Hughart and the other officers of the company will in comparatively brief space of time have the road in operation. The surveys for the most part have already been made, and map detailing the most favorable routes so far as they go within Pennsylvania, have been filed at Harrisburg. In one instance the engineers have made two surveys, designated respectively as the "Nine Mile Run," and the "Four Mile Run" routes. These routes, cross the city, connect with the Allegheny Valley Railroad and thence cross the river to Pine Creek. It is not yet decided which one shall be taken, but the engineers will present their final report to-day to the officers and a choice will then be made. It has been decided to continue the line, after crossing the city by one of these routes, up Pine Creek Valley to Brush Creek, Butler county, and along Brush Creek to Wampum Furnace, which is near the State line. The road will then branch off into Ohio, through which State no route has been definitely fixed upon, although it is generally supposed that Canton and Massilon will not be left out in the cold.

As we have said, however, the engineers will report to-day and probably a decision will at once be made. Then the work, we are assured, is to be put under contract immediately. Possibly in less than ten days ground will be broken and the work commenced. So, judging from the beginning, Pittsburgh has every reason to rejoice at the prospects for the completion of this new and important connection with the West.

THE STATE.

A NEW public school house is shortly to be commenced in Butler.

A STABLE in Chambersburg was burned last week, and it is generally believed to have been fired by the spontaneous combustion of the green hay with which the loft was filled.

A TRIPLE OUTRAGE was committed last week upon a Mrs Ames, of Tryonville, Crawford county, by an Irishman named Thomas Dercide. The victim was sixty years of age, and confined to bed. The villain was captured; but managed to escape, and is now at large.

DURING the severe storm on Monday evening of last week the house of James Phillips, near Sodom, Upper St. Clair township, Allegheny county, and close to the Washington county line, was struck by lightning. While the building escaped material injury, the members of the family were much shocked, and one of Mr. Phillip's sons, a young man, was very severely injured.

MR. JAMES R. KELLEY, one of the editors of the Washington Reporter, died at his home on the 9th inst. He has been somewhat prominent and very promising as a politician, having been at one time Speaker of the Lower House of the State Legislature, and later chairman of the last State Republican Convention, although he was but thirty-one years old at the time of his death.

THE Washington Review says: We understand that an effort is being made to establish an English Lutheran church in this place. Several members of the denomination now residing in Pittsburgh and vicinity have expressed a desire to remove here, and Rev. Dr. W. A. Passavant, the leading Lutheran in Western Pennsylvania, recently visited our borough with a view of looking up a site for a church edifice.

THE Clarion Democrat says that one day last week a hand in the employ of Mr. Crisman, of Newmanville, Clarion county, was engaged in sinking a well. He had sunk it to the depth of seven feet and while out at his dinner, a lady heard a strange noise in the well, and going to ascertain the cause, found a stream of water issuing from the bottom of the well, about six inches in diameter. In a few minutes the well was full and the adjoining lot over flowed. It still continues to flow and quite a run is formed, where before was dry land. The water is strongly impregnated with minerals of some kind.

THE Chambersburg Repository says: Yesterday morning Dr. Richards brought to town the news of a sad occurrence. The facts are as follows: A colored woman and her two children live in one of the tenant houses on Mr. Linn's farm. The woman does the washing for Mr. Linn's family, and in the morning went to attend to her duties, leaving her two children at home and no fire about the house. Returning a short time after, the mother could see nothing of her children, but on searching for them, they were found up stairs, literally burned to death. It is supposed they set fire to their clothes while playing with matches.

THE Clearfield Journal says: We are informed that on Saturday evening, August 5th, as Mr. John Burgoon, of Penn township, was returning from his saw mill on Curry's Run, in Bell township, he met a huge she-bear with two cubs. Mr. B.'s dogs at once grappled with the bear, but after a severe fight was forced to give up the contest. The bear then reared on its hind legs, when Mr. B. shot it dead. Bruin measured seven feet in length, and evidently was an old offender, at it was minus the left fore paw, which probably was lost in a trap. The cubs effected their escape during the melee between their "mammy" and the dogs.

THE Doylestown Democrat says:—We learn the following from Tullytown, of an attempt to poison, a few days ago in that quiet village. It is alleged that one David Gibson and wife, who live there, had some family difficulty, and that she sought her revenge by poisoning the meat, which he was to take with him for dinner. He discovered the poison before he ate his dinner, and hastened to a physician at Trenton, with the meat. It is not stated whether the Doctor discovered any poison or not, but when Gibson returned home, to try his wife, he gave the rest of the meat to the children, which the wife snatched away quickly, saying that he wanted to poison the children. This was a ruse of his to test whether she had poisoned the meat. Mr. Gibson commenced to feel sick after eating a small piece of the meat. His wife has left for parts unknown.

THE SUNNY SOUTH.

THE Randolph (Mo.,) Citizen of the 10th inst., says: Milton J. Scott, a brother of A. W. Scott of this place, was shot and killed by A. W. Tapscott, at Martinsburg, twelve miles below Mexico, on the first of August. Scott was engaged in a fight with a young man named Sam Crutcher, and the two were firing at each other, when Tapscott discharged a pistol from a second story window the ball entering Scott's side and killing him. He was at the time wounded in both thighs by shots from Crutcher's gun. Tapscott's examination will come off at Mexico early next week."

THE Lynchburg Virginian of Monday has the following: "Captain W. H. Tardy was killed on Friday last by Henry Ward, near Leesville in this county. The facts, as reported to us, are that there had been an old feud between the parties, growing out of a dispute about some property. At the time of the occurrence, which ended so fatally to one of the parties, Captain Tardy was sitting on a fence, when Mr. Ward approached and discharged the contents of a double-barreled shot-gun, which took effect in the body of Captain T., killing him almost instantly. We cannot vouch for the correctness of the statement as to the manner of the killing, only that the result was as stated. Another deplorable example of the too common use of fire arms to settle personal difficulties, which has involved two most respectable families (connections we believe,) in the deepest affliction."

POLITICAL.

THE Republican County Convention of Delaware county, Pa., have nominated Thomas V. Cooper for Assembly. Mr. Cooper was beaten last year by the Democratic candidate; but judging from the large vote polled for him at the primary elections, and the almost unanimous vote he received in convention (85 to 11), his election this year may be considered a certainty.

THE Republicans of Mifflin county, Pa., have made the following nominations: President Judge, S. S. Wood; Associate Judges, Augustus Troxell, Joseph Zeigler; Assembly, Samuel Haffly, subject to District conference, Treasurer, Jesse Wendenhall; District Attorney, Horace Culbertson; Prothonotary, Wm. H. Bratton; Register and Recorder, Wm. Suttle; Commissioner, Henry Garver; Poor Director, Joseph Morrison; Auditor, W. C. Nelson.

A TERRIBLE story of murder and suicide comes from Glasgow. On August 3d it was discovered that James Nimmo, lately wholesale news agent in Enoch Square, and subsequently mill board manufacturer at Kilseyth, had murdered three of his children in his house, situated at No. 1 Shaftsbury terrace, by the administration of prussic acid, and then committed suicide. Mrs. Nimmo, it appears, had gone out to tea, leaving in the house her husband and her four children, named Blair, aged eleven; Christian, five; James, three years, and Harry, twenty months, with a boy named Paxtel, son of Mrs. Nimmo by her former husband, and two female servants. One of the servants was attracted to a room by hearing moaning, and on entering observed that one of the children was dead. She then proceeded to another apartment and found two of the other children insensible. She gave the alarm, and on medical assistance being procured it was discovered that Christian, James, Harry and their father were dead. From a letter found in the house there is no doubt that in a fit of temporary insanity Mr. Nimmo murdered his three children by administering prussic acid and then destroyed himself.

—At Frankfort, Ky., on Wednesday night, an eight year old daughter of Hiram Berry overturned a kerosene lamp in bidding her mother good night. The lamp bursted and the child Annie was burned so that she expired in three hours, while Mrs. Berry was seriously injured.
